SUMMER DAY CAMP 2010

Creative writing

Learn to write expressively without constraints. The curriculum will be created by Bruno Navasky, a poet, teacher, author of several books and a writer for the New York Times Sunday Book Review.

The fencing floor

Fencing Class

Modern fencing is a dynamic, exciting sport. Fencing teaches discipline, grace, agility and strategy. In our new state-of-the-art, fully air-conditioned facility in Chelsea, students of all levels of experience will work with our famous world class coaches. Our Olympians will be available to coach and bout with the fencers. Learn the fundamentals and then get on the strip and try to outsmart your opponent in a classic battle! Good technique and safety are emphasized.

Math games & puzzle solving

Math games and puzzle solving teach fundamentals of mathematical thinking outside of a formal math curriculum. The program is designed for our camp by a group of Harvard math/physics graduates who have extensive tutoring experience and who love logical games.

Maestro Sankofa & his students salute

Chess

Learn to play chess, in a program designed and supervised by Bruce Pandolfini, one of the most highly regarded chess teachers in the United States (depicted in the movie Searching for Bobby Fisher). Instruction and game-play at all levels.
